But life, if nothing else, had taught her promises weren't always to be counted on, and what appeared at first a shining chance might end in bitter disappointment.

~Susanna Kearsley

The past can teach us, nurture us, but it cannot sustain us. The essence of life is change, and we must move ever forward or the soul will wither and die.

~Susanna Kearsley

Hope rarely enters into it. 'Tis action moves the world.

~Susanna Kearsley

So, you see, my heart is held forever by this place," she said. "I cannot leave.

~Susanna Kearsley

Whatever time we have," he said, "it will be time enough.

~Susanna Kearsley

'Tis never the place, but the people one shares it with who are the cause of our happiest memories.

~Susanna Kearsley

The world becomes a wider place, with but a little learning.

~Susanna Kearsley

A grieving person's like a person treading in deep water--if they've nothing to hold on to, they lose hope. They slide right under.

~Susanna Kearsley

These are your beautiful days, Julia Beckett," he promised softly.

~Susanna Kearsley

Life is always uncertain,'he said with a shrug. 'We cannot let the fear of what might happen stop us living as we choose.

~Susanna Kearsley

Men who watch, and say little, very often are much wiser than the men they serve.

~Susanna Kearsley

Knowing that the battle will not end the way he wishes does not make it any less worthwhile the fight.

~Susanna Kearsley

When I meet a wind I cannot fight , I can do naught but set my sails to let it take me where it will.

~Susanna Kearsley

Ye'll never best your fears until ye face them
