Progress in science depends on new techniques, new discoveries and new ideas, probably in that order.

~Sydney Brenner

Innovation comes only from an assault on the unknown.

~Sydney Brenner

So that's when I saw the DNA model for the first time, in the Cavendish, and that's when I saw that this was it. And in a flash you just knew that this was very fundamental.

~Sydney Brenner

I think one of the things about creativity is not to be afraid of saying the wrong thing.

~Sydney Brenner

In my second year, after moving to the Medical School, I began the courses of Anatomy and Physiology. I had begun to see that I was interested in cells and their functions.

~Sydney Brenner

I set up a laboratory in the Department of Physiology in the Medical School in South Africa and begin to try to find a bacteriophage system which we might use to solve the genetic code.

~Sydney Brenner

Have you tried neuroxing papers? It.'s a very easy and cheap process. You hold the page in front of your eyes and you let it go through there into the brain. It's much better than xeroxing.

~Sydney Brenner

I completed the first three years of primary school in one year and was admitted to the local school the age of six directly into the fourth year, some two years younger than all my contemporaries.

~Sydney Brenner

The modern computer hovers between the obsolescent and the nonexistent.

~Sydney Brenner

Living most of the time in a world created mostly in one's head, does not make for an easy passage in the real world.

~Sydney Brenner

Many have gone on to do important scientific work but all remember those wonderful times when we and our science were young and our excitement in meeting new challenges knew no bounds.

~Sydney Brenner

There was still food rationing in England and life was difficult all through my 2 year stay in Oxford.
