The only thing I was trying to portray was serenity. Also, innocence, vulnerability and elegance.

~Sylvia Kristel

I have to be careful not to be too proud in life, because there is always room for improvement.

~Sylvia Kristel

I still have agents in France, Los Angeles and Amsterdam who call and suggest parts. I'd love to keep on doing both painting and acting until the end of my days.

~Sylvia Kristel

I have a talent for happiness. I look with the eyes of a painter, and I see beauty.

~Sylvia Kristel

I learned so much from other actors and they definitely didn't treat me like some sex bomb or bimbo. I felt fully accepted in the regular movie world. I didn't feel categorised.

~Sylvia Kristel

I don't expect too much from the afterlife, I think that I know very well what pain is. When I think of the end of my life, I think mainly: I didn't do nothing, but I could have done more.

~Sylvia Kristel

Of course it's difficult to top a box office success like Emmanuelle, so it will always be my most important work. But that's nothing to be ashamed of.

~Sylvia Kristel

As a painter you're responsible yourself, 100 percent. In film, you have the editor, the director, the other actors. It has the advantage of not being solitary.

~Sylvia Kristel

I'm very glad to have something to be passionate about. I can't imagine a life without passion.

~Sylvia Kristel

No one has taken my heart in their hand. I haven't given it... I have lent myself, rented myself out, but never given myself.

~Sylvia Kristel

You're much better off as a love goddess to die around the age of 40.

~Sylvia Kristel

Self confidence for me is a fragile fleece.

~Sylvia Kristel

I love to invent - avoiding the truth. I need to dramatize.

~Sylvia Kristel

I like this other world, this forgetting of myself. The actor works in order to escape, not to find himself. You become an actor by leaving yourself, and then you have to keep acting. How tragic!

~Sylvia Kristel

My mother was Protestant, and in her mind life was more about work and obligations and responsibilities.
