As the light begins to intensify, so does my misery, and I wonder how it is possible to hurt so much when nothing is wrong.

~Tabitha Suzuma

At what point do you give up - decide enough is enough? There is only one answer really. Never.

~Tabitha Suzuma

...and my loneliness, always my loneliness - that airless bubble of despair that is slowing stifling me.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Out of the millions and millions of people that inhabit this planet, he is one of the tiny few I can never have.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Trying to describe my life and feelings to you is like trying to describe colours to the blind, or music to the deaf. It's simply not possible.

~Tabitha Suzuma

At the age of five she has already come to terms with one of the life's harshest lessons: that the world isn't fair.

~Tabitha Suzuma

At the end of the day it's about how much you can bear, how much you can endure. Being together, we harm nobody; being apart, we extinguish ourselves.

~Tabitha Suzuma

How can something so wrong feel so right?

~Tabitha Suzuma

It's always nice being wanted. Even if it's by the wrong person.

~Tabitha Suzuma

You've always been my best friend, my soul mate, and now I've fallen in love with you too. Why is that such a crime?

~Tabitha Suzuma

Lochie. The boy I once loved. The boy I still love. The boy I will continue to love, even when my part in this world is over too.

~Tabitha Suzuma

If I keep breathing, then I have to keep living, and if I keep living, then I have to keep hurting, and I can't - not like this.

~Tabitha Suzuma

This is the definition of happiness: a whole day stretching out ahead of me, beautiful in its emptiness and simplicity.

~Tabitha Suzuma

I mean, at the end of the day, what the hell does it matter who I end up with if it can't be you?

~Tabitha Suzuma

Get through today - you can fall apart tomorrow. Get through tomorrow, you can fall apart the day after . . .

~Tabitha Suzuma

She can't just be a face, a body; there has to be more than that, some kind of connection. And I can't connect, don't want to connect, with anyone.

~Tabitha Suzuma

There are no laws, no boundaries on feelings. We can love each other as much and as deeply as we want. No one, Maya, no one can ever take that away from us.

~Tabitha Suzuma

I've never seen anyone sleep with their head hanging off the back of a wooden chair before - was the couch not comfortable enough for you?

~Tabitha Suzuma

The words fire from my mouth like bullets, ricocheting off the walls before I can even register what I'm saying.

~Tabitha Suzuma

He is my soul mate, my fresh air, the reason I look forward to getting up every morning.

~Tabitha Suzuma

And this is something I must accept - even if, like acid on metal, it is slowly corroding me inside.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Being together, we harm nobody; being apart, we extinguish ourselves.

~Tabitha Suzuma

And I know how he feels-it's so good it hurts.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Anyway, what does mad mean exactly?" Rami added quickly "Aren't we all a little mad? Don't we have to be somewhat mad just to go on living, to go on hoping?"

~Tabitha Suzuma

I would give anything to escape myself, Flynn thought, just for a day, just for a minute even. Just to know what it was like to think differently, to feel differently, and to not be me.

~Tabitha Suzuma

But I don't want to be fine, not if it means she's going to let go of my hand; not if it means we're going to go back to being polite strangers.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Otherwise I'll fall apart. I'm going to fall apart. I am falling apart.

~Tabitha Suzuma

I am overcome by a feeling of complete detachment. I am a mere object to these people. I am barely human any more.

~Tabitha Suzuma

You cannot undo the past; you can only learn to live with it, find some way of making peace with it, and move on.

~Tabitha Suzuma

How-how can we make it against the whole world?

~Tabitha Suzuma

He will think Lochan wasn't loved, but he was, more deeply than most people are in a lifetime.

~Tabitha Suzuma

If I move, if I speak, if I so much as blink, I'm going to lose this battle.

~Tabitha Suzuma

And I know how he feelsâ€”it's so good it hurts. I think I'm going to die from happiness. I think I'm going to die from pain. Time has stopped; time is racing.

~Tabitha Suzuma

What else could he possibly have done? What choices did he ever have?

~Tabitha Suzuma

Nothing can relieve the pain. Not crying, laughing, screaming, begging. Nothing can change the past.

~Tabitha Suzuma

It's horrible being ashamed of someone you care about; it eats away at you. And if you let it get to you, if you give up the fight and surrender, eventually that shame turns to hate.

~Tabitha Suzuma

The sight of such aching beauty would infuse his soul with pain.

~Tabitha Suzuma

Before there was anything, there was Lochan.
