~Thomas Campbell

the soul of conversation is sympathy

~Thomas Campbell

For Beauty's tears are lovelier than her smile.

~Thomas Campbell

Tis distance lends enchantment to the view, and robes the mountain in its azure hue.

~Thomas Campbell

Although no words can really help to ease the loss you bear, Just know that you are very close in every thought and prayer. To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die.

~Thomas Campbell

To live in the hearts of others is not to die

~Thomas Campbell

Your belief systems limit your reality to a sub-set of the solution space that does not contain the answer.

~Thomas Campbell

The smaller your reality, the more convinced you are that you know everything.

~Thomas Campbell

A man who will not leave his room because he does not know how, or is afraid to open the door, is trapped just the same whether or not the door is locked.

~Thomas Campbell

Better be courted and jilted Than never be courted at all.

~Thomas Campbell

An original something, dear maid, you would wish me to write; but how shall I begin? For I'm sure I have not original in me, Excepting Original Sin.

~Thomas Campbell

Our purpose is to grow up and become love

~Thomas Campbell

Our land, the first garden of liberty's tree-- It has been, and shall be, the land of the free.

~Thomas Campbell

Triumphal arch, that fill'st the sky
When storms prepare to part, I ask not proud Philosophy
To teach me what thou art.

~Thomas Campbell

Never wedding, ever wooing, Still a lovelorn heart pursuing,
Read you not the wrong you're doing In my cheek's pale hue? All my life with sorrow strewing; Wed or cease to woo.

~Thomas Campbell

On Linden, when the sun was low, All bloodless lay the untrodden snow, And dark as winter was the flow Of Iser, rolling rapidly.
