There is a garden in her eyes, where roses and white lilies flow.

~Thomas Campion

From heav'nly thoughts all true delight doth spring.

~Thomas Campion

Time's fatal wings do ever forward fly; To every day we live, a day we die.

~Thomas Campion

Let now the chimneys blaze And cups o'erflow with wine... The summer hath his joys, And winter his delights; Though love and all his pleasures are but toys, They shorten tedious nights.

~Thomas Campion

Let now the chimneys blaze And cups o'erflow with wine; Let well-tuned words amaze With harmony divine.

~Thomas Campion

Never love unless you can bear with all the faults of man!

~Thomas Campion

A prudent pharmacist often vends something for your complaint. But wine merchant you do this invariably.

~Thomas Campion

Secret fates Guide our states Both in mirth and mourning.

~Thomas Campion

Never weather-beaten sail more willing bent to shore.

~Thomas Campion

Thou shalt prove That beauty is no beauty without love.

~Thomas Campion

Kind are her answers, But her performance keeps no day; Breaks time, as dancers. From their own Music when they stray.

~Thomas Campion

All our pride is but a jest. None are worst and none are best. Grief and hope and joy and fear Play their pageant everywhere.

~Thomas Campion

If all would lead their lives in love like me, Then bloody swords and armor should not be; No drum nor trumpet peaceful sleeps should move, Unless alarm came from the camp of love.

~Thomas Campion

Lost is our freedom When we submit to women so: Why do we need
'em When, in their best, they work our woe?

~Thomas Campion

Fortune, honour, beauty, youth, Are but blossoms dying; Wanton pleasures, doting love, Are but shadows flying.

~Thomas Campion

Beauty is not beauty without love.

~Thomas Campion

The man whose silent days
In harmless joys are spent,
Whom hopes cannot delude,
Nor sorrow discontent:
That man needs neither towers
Nor armour for defence,
Nor secret vaults to fly
From thunder's violence.

~Thomas Campion

Follow thy fair sun, unhappy shadow.

~Thomas Campion

Yet I would not die a maid, because I had a mother, As I was by one brought forth, I would bring forth another.

~Thomas Campion
