The heart is not so constituted, and the only way to dispossess it of an old affection is by the expulsive power of a new one

~Thomas Chalmers

Every man is a missionary, now and forever, for good or for evil, whether he intends or designs it or not.

~Thomas Chalmers

Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of the thousands you come in contact with year by year, and you will never be forgotten.

~Thomas Chalmers

Faith is like the hand of the beggar that takes the gift while adding nothing to it.

~Thomas Chalmers

It is in those times of hopeless chaos when the sovereign hand of God is most likely to be seen.

~Thomas Chalmers

Guard against that vanity which courts a compliment, or is fed by it.

~Thomas Chalmers

Prayer does not enable us to do a greater work for God. Prayer is a greater work for God.

~Thomas Chalmers

The sum and substance of the preparation needed for a coming eternity is that you believe what the Bible tells you, and do what the Bible bids you.

~Thomas Chalmers

Regardless of how large, your vision is too small.

~Thomas Chalmers

I take one decisive and immediate step, and resign my all to the sufficiency of my Saviour.

~Thomas Chalmers

Acts of virtue ripen into habits; and the goodly and permanent result is the formation or establishment of a virtuous character.

~Thomas Chalmers

The character wherewith we sink into the grave at death, is the very character wherewith we shall re-appear on the day of resurrection.

~Thomas Chalmers

Even in the fiercest uproar of our stormy passions, conscience, though in her softest whispers, gives to the supremacy of rectitude the voice of an undying testimony.

~Thomas Chalmers

... moral evil is its own curse.

~Thomas Chalmers

It has been said that there is nothing more uncommon than common sense.

~Thomas Chalmers

By the very constitution of our nature moral evil is its own curse.

~Thomas Chalmers

I have no sympathy whatever with those who would grudge our workmen and our common people the very highest acquisitions which their taste or their time or their inclination would lead them to realize.

~Thomas Chalmers

The public! why, the public's nothing better than a great baby.

~Thomas Chalmers

O God, impress upon me the value of time, and give regulation to all my thoughts and to all my movements.

~Thomas Chalmers

O Heavenly Father, convert my religion from a name to a principle! Bring all my thoughts and movements into an habitual reference to Thee!

~Thomas Chalmers

Shakespeare is an intellectual miracle.

~Thomas Chalmers

There are no moral blanks; there are no neutral characters.

~Thomas Chalmers

With the magnificence of eternity before us, let time, with all its fluctuations, dwindle into its own littleness.

~Thomas Chalmers

Enthusiasm is a virtue rarely to be met with in seasons of calm and unruffled prosperity.

~Thomas Chalmers

It is more blessed to give than to receive, and therefore less blessed to receive than to give.

~Thomas Chalmers
