Journalism and the questions of journalistic ethics, and why certain stories are put on the air, when, how and for what reasons, are big questions in our culture and society.

~Thomas Sadoski

Criticism is something that you have to take, regardless of what you do.

~Thomas Sadoski

Having the audience know more than the characters is precisely where you want to be in terms of drama. You can engage them much more when that is the case.

~Thomas Sadoski

I have always been politically active and vaguely dissatisfied with the state of news, but I wasn't sure why.

~Thomas Sadoski

Even if you go out there and try to make the most vanilla, non-offensive TV show possible, people are going to criticize you for doing that. It's just part of the game. You can't let it get to you.

~Thomas Sadoski

As an actor playing a character, I can't come in with my judgement, or else I can't play it honestly. My judgement has to be reserved for later.

~Thomas Sadoski

I'm so super interested in what it is to stir things up and to listen to people.

~Thomas Sadoski

I am very interested in asking questions, and I am very interested in being involved in shows that ask people to think and feel.
