Everyone knows that senior citizens are stupid

~Tom Green

I considered myself a professional comedian because the club would pay me $20.

~Tom Green

I tend to sit around with my friends a lot and rant and rave about things I think are ridiculous in the world, and I tend to make fun of myself a lot.

~Tom Green

I tend to find comedy in dark places. I also tend to find comedy in taking on the status quo - which has always been something I find important.

~Tom Green

I had a real passion for performing. I craved the attention. I was a goofy kid just like I am a goofy adult. So as soon as I got the bug of getting laughs and getting on stage I just couldn't stop.

~Tom Green

We all borrow and steal and copy from each other, and that's the way I think people get inspired.

~Tom Green

I'm no more a lawbreaker than they are , and if they were lawbreakers for keeping God's commandments, they're my example.

~Tom Green

Whenever I do something I tend to focus on it and spend all of my time and energy on it.

~Tom Green

I think I always enjoyed the energy of a crowd, of being onstage. It started when I was even younger doing public speaking at school and just kept going from there.

~Tom Green

It's hard to have any moral authority over a group of drunken college students when you have never had a beer and never been laid.

~Tom Green

It's such a huge endeavor putting a full movie together, especially an independent movie. I tend to kind of do them when they come my way more than something that I go out and actively pursue.
