Whether it's movies or television that I've directed, or characters that I've played, I'm just always fascinated by the moral ambiguity inherent in life.

~Tony Goldwyn

I'm always perversely attracted to characters that seem one thing, but are ultimately revealed as another...

~Tony Goldwyn

Once you go Kerry Washington, you can't go back

~Tony Goldwyn

My two daughters live on Facebook and social media is their mode of communication.

~Tony Goldwyn

Nothings wrong with honest emotion.

~Tony Goldwyn

I grew up in Hollywood. Saying my name here is like mentioning Ford in Detroit

~Tony Goldwyn

My parents kept us sheltered from this world of Hollywood. I don't have any great memories of bouncing on Cary Grant's knee or something like that

~Tony Goldwyn

I really enjoy directing television because you get to work in so many different genres and with different people.

~Tony Goldwyn

My sex scenes with @kerrywashington are f hot!

~Tony Goldwyn

I think I've inherited a kind of willfulness, a kind of quiet willfulness that I'll just hang in there with something until it happens.

~Tony Goldwyn

If you're playing with the best, you just rise up to that level

~Tony Goldwyn

Life is a very emotional experience.

~Tony Goldwyn

Relationships are super complicated and always have dark and light in them. And all good sexual relationships do, too.

~Tony Goldwyn

I'm a moderate Democrat. I've always been fascinated and maddened by the way things get done in our system, which as an ideal is so extraordinary, but the way it actually works can be mind-boggling.

~Tony Goldwyn

It was great to essentially have two protagonists where you're sympathies could go back and forth between the two of them, throughout the season.

~Tony Goldwyn

I've been a political junkie for a long time. I find the way Washington works is just fascinating to me.

~Tony Goldwyn

I think the problem with polemics is that it's general and it's lazy. When you say, "This is bad," that's a general thing. We're more interested in asking the question.

~Tony Goldwyn

My mother's whole family had been from the theater, really. Because I grew up in Hollywood, I wasn't that interested in Hollywood. But the New York theater was completely exotic and fabulous to me.

~Tony Goldwyn

I feel audiences are not given enough credit for their intelligence.

~Tony Goldwyn

In television, the creator is really the voice...
