It is guaranteed to put all teeth on edge, including George Washington's, wherever they might be.

~Vincent Canby

Hack fiction exploits curiosity without really satisfying it or making connections between it and anything else in the world.

~Vincent Canby

[His acting] remains forever fixed in a time that never dates.

~Vincent Canby

We are drawn to Twitter the way we are drawn to the scene of an accident.

~Vincent Canby

Miss Dietrich is not so much a performer as a one-woman environment.

~Vincent Canby

Like Godard, Tati is also remarkably appreciative of the odd beauty that can be revealed in the shapes, patterns and colors created by the technology of planned obsolescence.

~Vincent Canby

Nothing in Death Hunt makes a great deal of sense, though the scenery is rugged and the snowscapes beautiful.

~Vincent Canby

The solemnity of the annual Nobel ceremonies in Stockholm with the cheerful bad taste of the grand opening of a shopping center in Los Angeles.
