What is this life if, full of care, we have no time to stand and stare.

~W. H. Davies

Now shall I walk or shall I ride? 'Ride,' Pleasure said; 'Walk,' Joy replied.

~W. H. Davies

No matter where the body is, the mind is free to go elsewhere.

~W. H. Davies

I turned my head and saw the wind, Not far from where I stood,
Dragging the corn by her golden hair, Into a dark and lonely wood.

~W. H. Davies

When I had money, money, O! I knew no joy till I went poor; For many a false man as a friend Came knocking all day at my door.

~W. H. Davies

What sweet, what happy days had I, When dreams made Time Eternity!

~W. H. Davies

As long as I love Beauty I am young.

~W. H. Davies

Teetotallers lack the sympathy and generosity of men that drink.

~W. H. Davies

It was the rainbow gave thee birth, and left thee all her lovely hues.

~W. H. Davies

But cats to me are strange, so strange I cannot sleep if one is near.

~W. H. Davies

Pleasure's a Moth, that sleeps by day
And dances by false glare at night;
But Joy's a Butterfly, that loves
To spread its wings in Nature's light.

~W. H. Davies

And hear the pleasant cockoo, loud and long -
The simple bird that thinks two notes a song.

~W. H. Davies

I love thee for a heart that's kind--not for the knowledge in thy mind.
