As a coach, I want players to challenge me, to question me and ask why we're doing a certain thing, so they feel that they're taking ownership.

~Warren Gatland

Sometimes you have to put your balls on the line.

~Warren Gatland

If you play the game and you think about coaching, you should know it's about listening to people and learning.

~Warren Gatland

My aim is to create a happy environment where the players are working hard, but enjoying themselves. You've got to enjoy yourself, and you've got to have a bit of fun as well.

~Warren Gatland

For me coaching was all about being involved, and taking the best qualities from the coaches I had as a player and moulding them into my own personality.

~Warren Gatland

When you beat England at Twickenham you don't feel the need to make changes to a winning side, but there are areas we think we can improve

~Warren Gatland

Coaching is about not being afraid to be challenged and, above all, trying to enjoy the experience.

~Warren Gatland

The attitude in terms of how players work both on and off the field has a massive impact on us as coaches but also the performance and how the team does as well.

~Warren Gatland

A lot of coaching is about results and if you don't get the right results, you're going to get criticism, but if all things are going well then you can enjoy yourself.
