I believe in the synergy and sharing platforms.

~Warryn Campbell

I'm usually writing or producing for other people. I'm like Burger King most of the time; I let people have it their way like "You want it like this? I'll give it to you like this."

~Warryn Campbell

Prince didn't want to sound like Michael Jackson. Neither of them wanted to sound like Luther Vandross. They didn't want to sound like David Bowie. They were all different, but brilliant.

~Warryn Campbell

People are getting record deals and they can barely sing. We have these new terms for artists that can dance, but they can't sing.

~Warryn Campbell

I just encourage everyone to make real music and it will fuel the engine and the machine. Just make it real and put your heart into it. Don't make it because you heard someone on the radio.

The major labels, they roll with whatever is making money. I don't know if R&B turned into making banjo music and it sounded like blue grass, they'll buy it if it's selling.

~Warryn Campbell

I think when the music and the product is amazing, people buy it.

~Warryn Campbell

If you're going to be called a musician, you have to be able to play.

~Warryn Campbell

I want to make music that I know that ten years from now, you can put it on and say "This is a great record".

~Warryn Campbell

The one thing I always loved about Michael Jackson: he had fun records, but he's also going to make some important statement with the music as well. He's not going to forsake the culture.

~Warryn Campbell

You can't say that people don't love music anymore because they do. If we say that all the music stopped, if music stops now, the world can't handle that. We need our music.
