When you're an outsider or a misfit, if you play it smart, your motto should be, 'I'll show 'em. I will show you.'

~Wendy Williams

The ocean, after all, is not about stability but about change. Change is normal. Everything changes. All the time.

~Wendy Williams

Maybe it's your obligation to use your celebrity for more than just your new BMW. I use mine to make people smile.

~Wendy Williams

Thank God I am 20 feet tall, so my crying is never mistaken as weak. It can be mistaken as weird, but not weak.

~Wendy Williams

I know it's hard to let go of people that have been with you forever. Sometimes it's time to call it a day.

~Wendy Williams

I'm for gay marriage. I've been married for 14 years. Marriage is not for everybody, it's not easy and divorce is there for a reason. If a gay person wants to get married, get married.

~Wendy Williams

Being tall and big was probably more painful than being black.

~Wendy Williams

Believe it or not, there are interesting elements in everyone. So, if I can't talk to everybody for at least 7 to 10 minutes, then I'm in the wrong profession.

~Wendy Williams

Learning and entertaining can go hand-in-hand.

~Wendy Williams

George Clooney is a wonderful philanthropist. But I've heard regular people say, "Would he just shut up and be hot?"
