I work between my heartbeat. I have one-and-a-half seconds to actually move. And at the same time I have to watch I don't inhale my own work.

~Willard Wigan

All creatures are great and small.

~Willard Wigan

People often swear the first time they see my work. I like that.

~Willard Wigan

At school I'd want to be so small that nobody could see me, and so my work depicts and reflects me - what it felt like to grow up in a world of pain.

~Willard Wigan

I was told I would become nothing. Now I am showing people how big nothing is.

~Willard Wigan

As a kid, I lived in a fantasy world. I used to believe ants could talk. Not once did they say thank you.

~Willard Wigan

Flying helicopters is what I do for fun.

~Willard Wigan

At home, when the heating pipes made noises, I imagined a tiny person was in there skipping with a rope. The fantasy world of tiny things became my escape.

~Willard Wigan

Just because you can't see something, doesn't mean it's not there.

~Willard Wigan

The smaller your work, the bigger your name will become.

~Willard Wigan

When I first heard that Barack Obama was going to be the first black president, I wanted to do the smallest, biggest tribute in history.

~Willard Wigan

I'm like a mad professor, but without the spiky hair.

~Willard Wigan

My work knocks people out; you've not seen the best of me yet.

~Willard Wigan

The microscopic world became my obsession.

~Willard Wigan

My teacher said my brain was the size of a pea. He made my life miserable by singling me out in the classroom as a failure.

~Willard Wigan

I learned nothing at school, so I just lived in my own world.

~Willard Wigan

There is a child in all of us.

~Willard Wigan

When I was a kid, I had trouble at school because of my learning disabilities. Carving is my body compensating for the lack of other skills.
