I will cause a boy who drives a plow to know more of the scriptures than the pope.

~William Tyndale

The Law and the Gospel are two keys. The Law is the key that shutteth up all men under condemnation, and the Gospel is the key which opens the door and lets them out.

~William Tyndale

Christ is with us until the world's end. Let his little flock be bold therefore.

~William Tyndale

Do you know who taught the eagles to find their prey? Well, that same God teaches His hungry children to find their Father in His Word.

~William Tyndale

To have a faith, therefore, or a trust in anything, where God hath not promised, is plain idolatry, and a worshipping of thine own imagination instead of God.

~William Tyndale

For if God be on our side, what matter maketh it who be against us, be they bishops, cardinals, popes, or whatsoever names they will?

~William Tyndale

The Church is the one institution that exists for those outside it.

~William Tyndale

God's goodness is the root of all goodness; and our goodness, if we have any, springs out of His goodness.

~William Tyndale

It is impossible to preach Christ, except thou preach against antichrist.

~William Tyndale

I perceived how that it was impossible to establish the lay people in any truth except the Scripture were plainly laid before their eyes in their mother tongue.

~William Tyndale

Evangelion (that we call the gospel) is a Greek word and signifieth good, merry, glad and joyful tidings, that maketh a man's heart glad and maketh him sing, dance, and leap for joy.

~William Tyndale

And as the circumcised in the flesh, and not in the heart, have no part in God's good promises; even so they that be baptized in the flesh, and not in heart, have no part in Christ's blood.

~William Tyndale

My overcoat is worn out my shirts also are worn out. And I ask to be allowed to have a lamp in the evening it is indeed wearisome sitting alone in the dark.

~William Tyndale

Let every man of whatsoever craft or occupation he be of... serve his brethren.

~William Tyndale

they go and set up free-will with the heathen philosophers and say that a man's free will is the cause why God chooseth and not another, contrary to all scriptures.

~William Tyndale

Marriage was ordained for a remedy and to increase the world and for the man to help the woman and the woman the man, with all love and kindness.

~William Tyndale

All that I do and suffer is but the way to the reward, and not the deserving thereof.

~William Tyndale

The Scriptures sprang out of God.

~William Tyndale

For we love not God first, to compel him to love again; but he loved us first, and gave his Son for us, that we might see love and love again, saith St John in his first epistle.

~William Tyndale

No more doth it hurt to say that the body and blood are not in the sacrament.

~William Tyndale

In the old covenants the people were sprinkled with blood of calves without, in their bodies, to bind them to keep the law; else we were bound to just damnation, for the breaking of it.

~William Tyndale

Here is also to be noted, that the cause of the institution was to be a memorial, to testify that Christ's body was given, and his blood shed for us.

~William Tyndale

Christ made the bread the sacrament of his body only: wherefore as the bread is no similitude of his blood, so am I not bound or ought to affirm, that his blood is there present.
