Nashville, man. That's the place to be.

~Willie Geist

I hope I pass on my dad's good humor, work ethic and lack of self-seriousness. Our house was always a fun place where you'd get knocked around quickly if you took yourself too seriously.

~Willie Geist

My dad was always fascinated and amused by Trump, so I learned to be fascinated and amused by Trump.

~Willie Geist

I'm not a huge luck guy. I think you make your own luck. I don't really believe in some other force making your own luck.

~Willie Geist

I never drink coffee, can you believe that? Works in morning television, doesn't drink coffee.

~Willie Geist

I was a big Dave Winfield guy growing up.

~Willie Geist

Guy Fieri's hair is the front lawn to hell.

~Willie Geist

Bacon. Crispy. Salty. I could just eat a mountain of bacon for breakfast;

it's so delicious.

~Willie Geist

I keep my politics a little closer to me than others do.

~Willie Geist

What can you say about Guy's cooking that hasn't been printed on a packet of cigarettes?

~Willie Geist

I think there's something about the homemade birthday cake, because my wife, on my daughter's first birthday, started the tradition where she takes a full cake and cuts the number birthday out of it.

~Willie Geist

I think President Obama has always been a little bit underestimated. Some of the things he's done with foreign policy have been unassailable. Getting us out of Iraq, killing Osama Bin Laden.
