Like pollen on a honeybee, flattery clings to the things you tell yourself.

~Willis Regier

Quotations calcify into clichés.

~Willis Regier

Cunning authors cut to be quoted.

~Willis Regier

Flatter yourself critically.

~Willis Regier

Quotology disdains no quotations whatsoever, a duty it bears stoutly, with bloodshot eyes and sagging shelves.

~Willis Regier

At its best, flattery is truth well dressed, and it is best dressed with fine see-through fabrics. Honest flattery can caress a lover, cover up a gaffe, and muffle aggression.

~Willis Regier

Misquotation is quotology's swamp. Amateur quoters mix and mangle Shakespeare and Scripture. Professors gaffe and printers bungle. It's a mess we must wade into.

~Willis Regier

[D]ifferent people have different quotational gravity.

~Willis Regier

Flattery works like a drug.

~Willis Regier

If you flatter yourself properly you will be better able to enjoy yourself. Stretch your joy so that others enjoy you too.

~Willis Regier

In phrases as brief as a breath worldly wisdom concentrates.

~Willis Regier

Quotologists encounter happy surprises, bright books by faded authors, treasures hidden under dust.

~Willis Regier

Flattery.... gets its kicks by flirting with insult and ridicule.

~Willis Regier

Care for yourself enough to listen carefully to what you say to yourself.

~Willis Regier

A little flattery, like a warm bath and soft towel, will let you get along with yourself, lie down with yourself, and sleep.

~Willis Regier

Quotation lovers love rare words.

~Willis Regier

Quotations cause all kinds of trouble.
