Reliability is the precondition for trust.

~Wolfgang Schauble

If you live beyond your means and have to restructure as a result, you pay a price.

~Wolfgang Schauble

The United States lived on borrowed money for too long, inflating its financial sector unnecessarily and neglecting its small and mid-sized industrial companies.

~Wolfgang Schauble

My job is not to predict everything that might happen in the future, but to address what we can do today.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Our balanced budget has an important psychological function. It is a signal that we can't continue to constantly take on debt.

~Wolfgang Schauble

During the centuries-long process of Reformation and Enlightenment, Christian churches had to accept some things they didn't like. Islam will have to do the same; otherwise it isn't part of Europe.

~Wolfgang Schauble

You can lead a happy life if you recognize that it's limited and completely unpredictable from one moment to the next.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Most of the mosques were built in our cities in recent years because Turkish citizens in those neighborhoods feel a growing need for places to pray.

~Wolfgang Schauble

We need more personnel within our security agencies.

~Wolfgang Schauble

If there are possibilities for strengthening investments, they will not fail because of us. Emmanuel Macron is right when he says that we need to do more and talk less.

~Wolfgang Schauble

By preventing new conflicts, we avert the causes of radicalization and the risk of terrorist attacks in Europe, including in Germany.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I think we will have to spend more on defense, for infrastructure, for extension of the broadband network and also for domestic security.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I'm a firm believer in the monetary union.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I don't want to interpret the pope's words, especially as I am one of those horrible people who fell away from the Roman church after Martin Luther.

~Wolfgang Schauble

We in Europe need to discuss how we can improve the community. That is the correct order.

~Wolfgang Schauble

In the EU, we agree that the pressures causing migration must be reduced.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I can't think of many other laws we might need. For now, though, we'll be talking to German Muslims over issues of coexistence.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I suggested that countries with tighter finances think about such a [fuel] tax. We don't have the time at the moment for months of discussion.

~Wolfgang Schauble

It has been clear for some time now that we have to do more for domestic and external security. I am prepared for that.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I don't know how many resolutions from the IMF or G-20 we have already written saying that such [financial] reforms are necessary for new growth.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Treaties exist so that they will be adhered to. It only serves to strengthen euroskepticism when we constantly make promises and reach agreements that we do not adhere to.

~Wolfgang Schauble

The significant collapse of oil prices shows that it was previously way too high.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Religion teachers for Islam instruction are being trained now in MÃ¼nster and Erlangen. This has to happen quickly. My goal is to achieve relevant results within two years.

~Wolfgang Schauble

A number of politicians, including those within your own party, believe Germans would be safer if the German military didn't insert itself into so many of the world's hot spots.

~Wolfgang Schauble

If you make the state responsible for everything, you shouldn't be surprised when you end up with a state that bears some resemblance to a dictatorship.

~Wolfgang Schauble

We will not be able to meet the challenges of integration and the threats posed by international terrorism. If we want to prevent attacks, we'll need more information and better integration.

~Wolfgang Schauble

It's understandable that Europe's Muslims are in a difficult situation, which is partly their own doing and partly not.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Many things can happen very quickly in times of crisis.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Politics means competition, especially in senior positions. If you don't know that, you're not especially suited to politics.

~Wolfgang Schauble

If the conflict in Lebanon continues, the risk of attacks will grow. This is why we must contribute to a joint (international) responsibility and help secure peace in Lebanon.

~Wolfgang Schauble

Those who constantly qualify everything and have no opinions of their own are ultimately just as incapable of tolerance.

~Wolfgang Schauble

I don't want to change Islam, but if there is to be a European Islam, it must incorporate European values.

~Wolfgang Schauble

We are facing a whole collection of crisis-like developments that we have to watch closely. But we also have to be careful what we point to as crisis indicators.
