We are put on this earth to have a good time. This makes other people feel good. And the cycle continues.

~Wolfman Jack

From 1958 to 1964, that's real rock n' roll. Then the Beatles hit and everyone sounded like them.

~Wolfman Jack

I taught myself to tune in to another persons wavelength, figure out what they were looking for, and try to project that thing back at them.

~Wolfman Jack

I started out as an opportunistic renegade. By now, I've lasted long enough to become sort of an American Original Respectable Renegade.

~Wolfman Jack

If you do right, everything will come out right.

~Wolfman Jack

A little mordida, here. A little mordida, there.

~Wolfman Jack

Two thousand years from now they'll still be hearing about Elvis Presley.

~Wolfman Jack

My fake Japanese was smooth enough to earn me the title of 'The Emperor of Pleasing Graciousness' in that country.

~Wolfman Jack

I am just a little tired of the Stones and the Beatles, and I don't care if I ever hear 'Louie Louie' ever again.

~Wolfman Jack

I think the acts today get too much money. I really do. They wind up blowing it all anyway. It's silly to give children that much money.

~Wolfman Jack

I figure the oldies are real close to what rocking country use to be.

~Wolfman Jack

John R. told me you don't work for the radio station. You work for the people out there.

~Wolfman Jack

My existence went up about 12 levels of intensity.
