

Yash Chopra Quotes

Film, Passion, Thinking, Girl, Home, Men, College, Believe, Writing, Humble, Greed, Lahore, Desire, Actors, Tired, Type, Regret, Directors, Human Relations, Able

Mumbai's infectious. Once you start living in Mumbai, working in Mumbai, I don't think you can live anywhere else.

~Yash Chopra

I always believe that my films should give some hope to the man who comes to watch them for those three hours. If he goes home on an optimistic note, I would feel satisfied at having done my duty.

~Yash Chopra

I was in Lahore before the partition, so I don't believe that a border can truly separate Punjab. I still think of it as one.

~Yash Chopra

There are only two types of cinema - good or bad.

~Yash Chopra

I don't make romantic films. I make films about human relationships.

~Yash Chopra

When I was in college, my brother, B.R. Chopra, who is everything to me, was a director in Bombay. He taught me filmmaking. What I am today is because of him.

~Yash Chopra

Human beings are very complex creatures. This desire, this greed, this love is very complex.

~Yash Chopra

What is the point of making the film if the man doesn't marry the girl?

~Yash Chopra

I'm not making films just to be bold.

~Yash Chopra

You can always make a good film but for it to be successful, you need God's blessing.

~Yash Chopra

The secret of being a great actor is a love of food.

~Yash Chopra

When I was in college, I had only one ambition that one day I would like to be a director.

~Yash Chopra

Related Links:

- Film Quotes
- Passion Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Girl Quotes
- Home Quotes
- Men Quotes
- College Quotes
- Believe Quotes
- Writing Quotes
- Humble Quotes
- Greed Quotes
- Lahore Quotes
- Desire Quotes
- Actors Quotes
- Tired Quotes
- Type Quotes
- Regret Quotes
- Directors Quotes
- Human Relations Quotes
- Able Quotes