A tiny detail can make you feel completely different. I feel different if I wear something that I'm slightly uncomfortable in.

~Yukimi Nagano

I really like our studio. It's definitely not in any way slick; it's very homemade, literally. Everyone has their own room to produce and write, and [there's a] big rehearsal space.

One of my strict, strict rules is a no auto-tune policy.

~Yukimi Nagano

You write music for yourself and if you just open that door and let people in, the audience is going to grow and it's going to become more accessible.

~Yukimi Nagano

If you listen too much to doubts you're totally lost.

~Yukimi Nagano

I don't write hits. If you just open that door, you're going to get a hit.

~Yukimi Nagano

Swedes, compared to Americans, can seem a little cold and introverted.

~Yukimi Nagano

I find it a little stressful when you're in a really nice studio and you feel time ticking and the bill getting higher.

~Yukimi Nagano

My lesson from that [songwriting process] was that I should go back to where I was and try to make that first pure even more strong.

~Yukimi Nagano

I feel like I'm still learning a lot with writing lyrics. In the beginning, like the first record, I wasn't so aware.

~Yukimi Nagano

I was really into R&B and stuff like that, so I really wanted to sing like Faith Evans or Mariah Carey. But I definitely don't have the skills to sing like that.

~Yukimi Nagano

I've worked with a lot of different producers, a lot of different writers on the album, so I mostly feel like I learned a lot about what I don't want to do the next time around.

~Yukimi Nagano

I didn't really like jazz that much and was unhappy in that genre. It was what I was doing just to get by and pay rent.

~Yukimi Nagano

It's hard to start and think about having balance. Music is a tough industry, and you have to work your way to that luxury.

~Yukimi Nagano

It can be tricky with branding these days, because everything is kind of branded.
